My Week

by R. J. Deachman

I went to a movie the other day to see "Captain From Castile", that's my second cinema in a year, got tired of them and didn't go.

I'm not going to tell you anything about the picture but there was an item in the screen news which interested me. It showed Lord Mountbatten leaving India. The crowd gave him a magnificent farewell. There must have been a thousand acres of people all yelling and waving. Yet this man was, to them, one of an alien race. The people of India wanted Britain to get out, yet they separated in friendship. This was the last official link between Britain and India. Certainly Lord Mountbatten performed magnificently in these last few months the necessary work of his great task. This was a triumph that no communist nation will ever approach. Britain helped to develop India until freedom and self-government was possible then left them to carry on—no quarrel—no war, best wishes, goodbye.

An American family with two little girls, one six, the other nine moved into an apartment near us the other day. I asked the father of the little family the first time I met him, how he liked the boundary line between Canada and the United States: "I have been in nearly every country of the world", he answered, "and there was less fuss crossing this boundary than I have ever seen before in all my life." While he was still staying at the hotel a man in conversation with the little girls asked them how they liked Canada, they said, "We'll see when we get there." "Well", he said, "you are in Canada now." "No", said one little girl, "these people are just like Americans." Such is life. It would indeed be hard to distinguish an American from a Canadian by texture alone, you might guess from his accent—even that would be difficult.

Some time ago I sent out a story asking which of all the years from 1903 to 1947 inclusive had been the most prosperous. I followed this by pointing out that so far as the records were concerned the standard of living was higher in 1947 than in any other year. Now I have a letter from Mrs. Katherine A. Marston, the editor and proprietor of that bright paper the Elora Express.

Here's what she says:

"I would take 1935, thank you, with four babies, no bathroom, and a farm to bring back to life, but with the hope of orderly progress (continued on back page)

ORGANIZATION OF THE ... FIRST PRIMARY

As the pages of 1902 history are turned one pauses in amazement and interest at the rapid progression of the little town of Raymond since that memorable day in August, 1901 when a buffalo head was placed in the centre of hub and a small group of pioneers gathered around and sang songs of Zion and listened to the dedication prayer by Charles O. Card of the Alberta Stake. That was the beginning—the starting point.

At the close of 1902 it is interesting to note the rapid flow of immigrants from Utah Idaho and Arizona. During the month of March alone many caravans entered Raymond. At one single time about the middle of March over sixty people wended their way into Raymond in covered wagons.

Most of those immigrants were young married people with families. The Mormon pioneers have always sensed keenly the need for schools and churches. There was a large number of young people and children. They had to be taken care of.

Bishop J. W. Knight was alert to the needs of the youth. The organizations of the M.I.A. and the Sunday School had been effected and now there was need of an organization of the Primary. Consequently on the 23rd of March 1902, Sister Emily Biglow (Grandmother of Della Woolf of Raymond), of the Alberta Stake Primary came to Raymond to organize the Primary organization and on April 13, 1902 the officers of this first organization were set apart. The meeting continued as follows:

"John W. Taylor and Jesse Knight visited the Sunday School. Brother Taylor encouraged everyone to read good books and retain and use what was gleaned from them. He also encouraged the congregation to have faith and not get discouraged in this new community. Jesse Knight hoped the spirit of fault-finding would not come into our midst as that kind of spirit was not from the Lord but from the evil one. He hoped the Lord would bless the people in this land. People were encouraged not to harm swallows as they ate millions of mosquitoes.

Again we read from an old record. The first Primary was held April 16th, 1902. No classwork was conducted at that first meeting. The opening song was "Merry, merry children sweetly sing". The closing song was "Did you think to pray." Susie Rose was the president and talked to the children after which some of the children sang songs and others recited. There were 53 present that first meeting including officers and teachers. Primary was held every 3 weeks at that time. The officers were: Susie Wood Rose, President; Clara Stevens 1st counselor; Susie Fraser 2nd counselor; Ora S. Rose Sec.; The first teachers were Annie Cooper, Rose Stewart and Ida Young.

Many of these primary children now grown to manhood and womanhood are still with us and have families of their own. In one or two cases they are grandparents.

Continuing to dip into old records we read:

April 27, 1902—Ephraim B. Hicks was released as president of the M.I.A. on account of his many duties as counselor to Bishop Knight. Francis Kirkham was sustained president with George H. Budd first and J. H. McKnight 2nd counselors and Robert Ashby Secretary.

May 4th, Frank Rose was released as organist of the Sunday School and Christian Tollestrup sustained.

RAYMOND CHURCH DEDICATED MAY 25, 1902.

The Raymond church was dedicated May 25th, 1902. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Orson A. Woolley. The choir sang "This House We Dedicate To Thee".

JUNE 15th, Hyrum Knight and Ernest Stark were thanked for presenting the ward with a new pulpit for the new church.

JULY 7th, The first General Priesthood was held.

August 3rd, Amy L. Allen and Zina Y. Card of the Alberta Stake were the speakers.

Aug. 10, C. F. Tollestrup and wife were received as members of the ward. Apostle John W. Taylor and Jesse Knight were the speakers.

Jesse Knight said the Sugar Factory would be built and with the help of the Lord would be successful.

Aug. 24th—Bishop Knight called upon the brethren to build a granary for the Relief Society.

Special Meeting, Sept. 3rd, 1902

A special meeting was held in the Raymond Ward meeting house Sept. 3rd, 1902. The occasion was a visit from Joseph E. Smith, President of the L.D.S. church. With him from Salt Lake was his first counselor Anthony L. Lund. Also present at this meeting were Apostle John W. Taylor, President Card and Woolley of the Alberta Stake and some of the prominent sisters from Salt Lake City. Bishop J. W. Knight presided. Singing: "Come, Come Ye Saints." Prayer was offered by Elder Wm. Wood. President Lund was introduced as the first speaker and said in part: "I know of no place in Zion which has manifested such rapid growth and has accomplished so much in the same length of time. It is human nature to expect rather than to appreciate blessing (etc.)"

Mrs. McDuffee sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Moore. Zina Y. Card was the next speaker. Other speakers were Sr. Smith, wife of President Smith and President Smith. He marvelled at the progress made here in so short a time. He considered our opportunities most favorable for a glorious future. "My greatest fear is that through prosperity some may be led to forget the giver of all good." He felt to congratulate us upon our happy location. "We have greater opportunities than have ever been enjoyed by our people," said our history in Canada was recounted. He hoped our virtues would gain favor with the powers that be. Zion grows from the base of the mountains to the Gulf. He advised the people to lay out their streets and side walks and commence ornamenting them that our better nature can be educated. "We should build good homes and make our wives and children happy. The mothers who bear our children are worthy of our highest love and admiration." President Card then effected some organizations. The following were sustained: As officers of the Eastern Circuit Zebulon Jacobs, Instructor or in religion classes with Franklin P. Fisher 1st and Arthur Dahl 2nd assistants.

Sister Mary Head as President of the Primary; Francis W. Kirkham, president of YMMIA; Arthur Eugene Fawcett 1st and John Powelson Sec. Apostle Taylor followed and told how the people had answered the calls made of them. He also explained the liberality of the Canadian Government. Choir under George E. Court sang "Praise to the Man". Closing prayer by L. H. Baker.

THEY'RE EVERYWHERE! More people buy and enjoy Maxwell House than any other brand of coffee in the world at any price. It's economical to buy the best in coffee!

Following is a copy of the minutes of the scarcely ten months old Sunday School which had grown from a total attendance of 43 to a total of 188.

Raymond Ward S.S. held Sept. 14 "Commenced at 10 o'clock Supt. L. H. Holbrook presiding. Roll call showed 17 officers and teachers present. 3 late and 2 excused. Opening hymn "Did You Think To Pray" Prayer was offered by M. T. Owen Singing "Catch the Sunshine" Minutes read and accepted. Silent drill was held. Sacrament administered by Elders George Fairbanks and Loxton. Bro. and Sister R. E. Allen from Provo spoke to the school. Bishop Knight spoke to the school, said all the officers would be released at this time except the teachers. They received a vote of thanks for their work. Brother Holbrook said a few words about his new position as Supt. of the Eastern Circuit, said there was no better class of teachers in the Stake than in Raymond.

Louis D. King was chosen and voted in as Supt. of the Raymond Ward Sunday School with Wm. Cooper and Joseph McKnight as counselors Sister Alice Bevan as Secretary and Lizzie Munna as Treasurer. Supt. King spoke to the school.

The same day Sept. 14, David A. Wilcox was sustained president of YMMIA with George H. Budd and Andrew Wallon counselors.

Oct. 5, President Theodore Brandley of the Alberta Stake visited Raymond to reorganize the Relief Society. Sister Lorana Rodeback was sustained president with Emma J. Bevan and Mary Anderson as counselors. Christian Tollestrup was sustained organist with Mable Powelson as assistant in the ward. Sister Russell of Stirling as president of the Relief Society of the eastern circuit. A PROPHETIC UTTERANCE

Oct. 26, Jesse Knight was the speaker and among other things made this statement: "I can prophesy here today by the spirit of God, that if the people will keep the commandments of God there will never be a saloon in Raymond."

FIREBLIGHT OF CRABAPPLES AND APPLES
The wet weather this spring and summer has been very conducive to the spread of fireblight. So widespread has been the damage by this disease that it is imperative that something regarding fireblight be told. In order to understand this disease it must be possible to recognize it, know what causes it and finally how best to combat it.

Fireblight is caused by a bacteria which gains entrance to a tree through the blossoms and young growing tips. From the point of entrance it spreads rapidly up and down the twig causing the familiar singed look of leaves and the bark becomes a dark brownish-purple color that characterizes the outward symptoms of this disease. Progress of the disease is stopped at the end of the growing season and the infected tissue which is now dead shrinks and a mark is formed between dead and living tissue, setting off a definite area known as "canker". Though progress of the disease is halted with the oncoming of winter this canker, especially on the larger limbs, becomes the point from which more severe spreading of the disease may start with renewed activity when conditions once again become favorable.

The highest worry concerning this disease is its control. The natural impulse is to cut off the infected twigs and limbs the moment it is discovered. This should not be done.

"DO NOT CUT OFF THE INFECTED PARTS DURING THE GROWING SEASON." It has been found through experience at the Lethbridge Experimental Station that pruning of the infected limbs and twigs during the summer only spreads the disease more. The infected parts should be cut out well below the diseased areas and immediately buried, during the dormant season and any diseased wood lying around becomes another good source of further infection. The tools used not be disinfected during the dormant season as they will not spread the

He studied at the Academy of Radio in Toronto during 1946-47. The vest is new to him except for a war-time harvesting expedition in 1942, which took him into Swift Current, Sask.

Since this is a bacterial disease sprays will not prevent or stop the disease. However, if aphids or ants are in abundance on a diseased tree they should be destroyed as they can readily carry the disease to healthy twigs.

The most positive way to control this disease is by using resistant varieties. The following varieties have shown resistance to a large degree at the Lethbridge Experimental Station.

We Hesitate to Say...
IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE!

Alberta has been enjoying a fortunate position in regard to her power needs compared to many places on this continent. Newspaper stories and ads in a great many localities cautioned against the unnecessary use of electricity and in some cases rationing of power had to be put into effect.

Here in Alberta the ever increasing demand caused by the post-war building boom and industrial expansion has been successfully met and we hope we shall continue to be able to do so.

Alberta's progressive expansion is in the interests of everyone in our province and, in spite of present difficulties in the way of our plans for further power development, we want that progress to continue so that Alberta will reach her true place in Canada's destiny.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. F. J. GREANEY

Director,
Line Elevators Farm Service,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.

L. B. Thomson, Director, P.F.R.A.

The recent appointment of Mr. L. B. Thomson, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current as Director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, succeeding Mr. George Spence, is one that should give great encouragement to all farmers, technical agriculturists and agricultural organizations in Western Canada who realize that the development of a proper and effective soil conservation and land use program means to the future welfare of farming in Western Canada.

Mr. Thomson is well known to farmers and technical agriculturists in Western Canada. For over 20 years he has been closely identified with the activities of the P.F.R.A. His leadership in the battle against drought and soil erosion has been of the highest order. Indeed, no man in Western Canada is better qualified by training, experience and ability to direct the future activities of the P.F.R.A. than is L. B. Thomson. His vast store of practical and technical knowledge of prairie soils — their potentialities, limitations and peculiarities — will be an important asset in the development of a sound, permanent soil conservation and land use program for Canada. In the years ahead, the work of the P.F.R.A. under Mr. Thomson's leadership, will assume very great importance in the future economy of Western Canada.

The main functions of the P.F.R.A. are, of course, the rehabilitation and improvement of our prairie soils. This involves the conservation and proper utilization of our soil and water resources. It includes not only the preservation of the soil itself, however, but also the improvement of the soil through the use of natural manures, mineral fertilizers, efficient cropping methods, irrigation, drainage and flood control.

The Line Elevator Companies associated with this Department extend to Mr. L. B. Thomson, and his experienced staff of agricultural experts, every success in all their P.F.R.A. undertakings.

Ing fireblight is concerned, is dependent upon dormant pruning of diseased limbs and growing of resistant varieties. For further details regarding fireblight write to the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge.

GRAVE ISSUE FOR GOVERNMENT

It is known behind the scenes along Parliament Hill that the wage increase demanded by the railway to the steadily rising cost of living in Canada but that this was in reality one of the other echoes heard here as a result of the general growing outcry across the country against the continuous upward movement of living costs with hints even whispered that recent by-election setbacks suffered by the Government and other uncomfortable developments being now more and more traceable to the feelings in the country on rising living costs.

With this in mind, veteran observers now hold that something concrete will be done by the government to help keep the price pressures under some sort of control. The first move has been the appointment of a Royal Commission to continue the price probe started by a special committee of the House of Commons and it is understood here that this body will be a sort of "watchdog" on price movements, investigating anything which affects the cost of living index in the country where such inquiries are warranted. It could look into foodstuffs, books and shoes, steel, textiles, etc., if it should find it advisable under prevailing conditions. In addition, it is understood here that other moves may be in the making, including a possible return to some control measures possible temporary subsidies, and removal of special excise taxes on certain goods.

In any event, there is no doubt behind the scenes along Parliament Hill that the present pressure on prices is providing the gravest issue for the Government and the continuing advance in the cost of living index will bring action to prevent soaring prices from getting beyond control, especially since the general outcry against inaction by the authorities is recognized now beyond a shadow of a doubt.

CAMPAIGN FOR LEADERSHIP

In sharp contrast to earlier indications there are reports circulating now backstage in this capital that the race for leadership of the Liberal Party in succession to Premier King may turn out to be no runaway affair for External Affairs Minister Louis St. Laurent, though there seems to have been a widespread publicity campaign or wave of commentary showing such a "sure thing" ever since Premier King made his open statement that he was definitely retiring. When the Liberal Party meets in Ottawa next month there will be quite a fight for the leadership it is learned here.

Already it is known that the forces favoring St. Laurent are not certain of victory in the same manner as they appeared to be several weeks ago, though it is undoubtedly true that they are still confident of eventual victory. However, strange stories are now heard backstage here about a "dark horse" candidate getting solid backing; that a younger man than St. Laurent, who is 66, may be more inclined to get the job that one of two provincial premiers may be named as "surprise" candidates; that at least three members of the present cabinet are definitely going to allow their names to be put forth at the convention here.

MORE ICE CREAM

A good hot weather report is that the production of ice cream in Canada has been running so far ahead of last year, though other dairy output, such as creamery butter and cheddar cheese have been down. In fact, the Canadian government reports that 3,303,000 gallons of ice cream were produced here in June, against 2,855,000 in the similar month last year and in the first half of this year the output has totalled 11,019,000 gallons compared with 9,277,000 gallons the same period of 1947 for a gain of 18.8%. Creamery butter and cheddar cheese production dropped 3.2% and 27.5% respectively in the first half of 1948.

PROJECTED EXPANSION

It is learned that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is planning to expand its internal services to reach Italy, Yugoslavia, Poland, and Belgium with careful study being made now of possible news broadcasting to Russia, though it is admitted that the problems involve the difficulty of obtaining reliable and competent personnel, together with finding out what the response to the service is in these countries. Nevertheless, the voice of Canada may go to these countries before long, it is hinted here.

COLLAPSE OF AGREEMENT

The virtual collapse of the international wheat agreement which was torn asunder as a possibility when the U. S. Congress did not ratify it before adjourning in June is being interpreted here as not likely to lead to immediate effects of any drastic nature but as resulting in fluctuations of wheat prices in future, with stories heard that another attempt at a new agreement may be made later this year.

MINISTERS IN OTTAWA

Though parliament is not in session now, yet members of the cabinet, in many cases appear to be obliged this summer either by their departmental work or the cabinet meetings to remain in or near this capital, including Premier King, who is at nearby Kingsmere home. Others who have been busy here and observed to be in the Capital are Postmaster General Bertrand, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Finance Minister Abbott, Labor Minister Mitchell and others. Work rather than vacation seems to be the order of the day this summer.

SAID IN THE CAPITAL

"The hope of future peace lies not in what the Soviet Union says about us but in what the Soviet Union does to improve the welfare of its own people and work with other nations in the welfare of all", said Defence Minister Claxton.

"Between the rising costs of food clothing and fuel to heat our homes I figure that my $1 now buys 38 cents worth of foods," declared George Baxter, father of 17 children and who lives in the capital on earnings of $185 a month.

"The Board feels that it would be in the public interest for the CBC to broadcast some speeches from those national conventions which are of outstanding importance because they are called to choose new national party leaders", remarked A. D. Duntton, Chairman, CBC, indicating it has been decided to broadcast the main proceedings of the national Liberal convention here in August.

"I don't feel that war is an immediate problem but it is definitely a problem of the next 10 or 15 years if we do not see understanding", stated CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell during an address here.

"In Canada our films are being seen non-theatrically by one million and theatrically by two million people", disclosed here Alan Field, of the National Film Board, reported.

ing that "there were 200 film coun- cils and libraries across Canada. "Progress of Communism in any section of the world affects the safety of the whole", stressed Dr. Chen Li-Fu, during a visit here, with this distinguished visitor being recognized as one of China's most powerful right wing leader.

WEEKLY WIND-UP

There is a marked increase in the consumption of beef by the average Canadian and this may prove to be one of the main reasons for failure to fill the beef contract with the United Kingdom, it is hinted here.

Premier Mackenzie King did not suggest $50,000 annual salary for future Prime Ministers of Canada nor any other specific figure, in face of reports about such supposed suggestions.

The influx of U.S. tourists into Canada so far this summer has been so great that even officials here are surprised, though rather pleased at the growing sum of U.S. dollars which is being left behind by these visitors to help exchange problem.

The Government Printing Bureau was exceptionally busy lately and it is said in this capital that some workers with overtime pay receiving as high as $150 a week on occasions due to the amount of work, especially in view of the shortage of staff in certain operations.

An Indian Railway Mission has indicated here that the quality of railway equipment imported from Canada during the war was highly praiseworthy with now the aim being to make India self-sufficient in this respect, though some imports of this kind from Canada were possible.

Government scientists here comment very cautiously about stories on rain making and suggest that before any judgement is passed farmers and others should await the results of full-dress tests which the National Research Council of Canada is now undertaking to settle the issue once and for all time, with these experts anticipating that it will take about a year before final judgement can be made on rain-making by artificial means, such as "seeding" the clouds, these tests being looked upon as "extremely important" by scientists in the capital.

Tailing Trouble

Driving can be safe, but injury and death stalk the careless driver. NO PRACTICE IS MORE LOADED WITH DANGER THAN FOLLOWING TOO CLOSELY BEHIND ANOTHER VEHICLE, especially a larger one that obscures the view ahead. If the driver ahead stops suddenly, you are in a smash-up. If you pull out to pass, you may be hit by an approaching car before you have time to see it. Drive carefully and live longer.

The A.M.A. Promotes Tourist Trade

Every Albertan benefits, directly or indirectly from this flow of buying power across our borders. The A.M.A. has worked consistently for improvement of roads, accommodations, and conditions generally, as they affect the good opinion of our visitors. A.M.A. membership will add pleasure to your motor trips, and give you many benefits—for only $10 a year.

Let us have good roads in Alberta AND safe roads. The government's announced road building plans for 1948 are one step in the right direction. A step towards safer roads can also be taken by the inauguration of some system of Driver Training and Testing. We recommend to the government that its study of such a plan be carried into action as soon as practicable.

CREMATING DISCUSSED

AT WEINER ROAST

Members of the Readers Progress Club held their annual picnic Tuesday evening at the Stake House. Games were to be enjoyed but as usual everyone was hungry first and afterwards, well they just couldn't play. Agnes, Alma and Rae weren't there so naturally we couldn't keep the food for them.

You should have heard the discussion we got into. Have you ever thought of being cremated. It's a lovely thought for a weiner roast. And then there were bats and Idale screaming, and Ann collecting revolting sticks. I believe she took them back to Max's next morning to trade in on more revels. Vi had a time getting a baby sitter, funny how she makes it in time for lunch tho. Lucille's troubles were the one you talk about, you know the telephone. Martha didn't have any trouble but she sure told Idale what she thought.

People are like that it seems but you can't put anything over on Idale. I think we should have another feast like that, say some warm July evening.

Imagination something that grew up with a woman when her husband comes home late.

Man has proved it possible to master every tongue in the world except his wife's.

A man who claims he's boss in his home will lie about other things too.

"Does she know much about cars?"
"No. She thinks you cool the motor by stripping the gears".

When you get to heaven you will find many people there whom you did not expect to see. Many will be surprised to see you there too.
